ing Site Selection

Advocates of a North Mercer street site, across from the Castleton Hotel, for the proposed new court house met the county commissioners, Elder, Connors and Woods, in Court room No. 1 at the court house Friday afternoon, and advanced their reasons for believing this would be a proper site for the new court house.

Attorney Clarence Patterson who headed the delegation, opened the subject by calling attention to the fact that if the proposed court house is erected it will be a monument to the present generation for the next hundred years or more. He believed that there are two things to be considered in the selection of a site. First: It ought to be within 2 or 3 blocks of the business section of the city. This would make it convenient to attorneys and those whose interests center in the business section. It would also be convenient to farmers who would only have to consider one parking place while doing business at the court house or in the various mercantile establishments.

Second: It should be in a district near the stream of traffic and not in it. If East Washington street or Jefferson street were selected, the court house would be on main arter-

PA NEW OBSERVES

New Castle bids fair to become a rival of Bellefonte in the fish display line in the near future. The Bellefonte trout are well known and now Pa New gets reports that a considerable number of large bass have made their home in the Neshaunock creek, within easy view of spectators on the East Washington street bridge.

Residents of seventh ward report that a biplane passes over that end of the city at a regular schedule daily. It goes west early in the day and returns east late in the afternoon. Someone commenting to and from work no doubt.

While fishing at Edinboro Lake, Mrs. Dolby, of R. F. D. No. 2 this city, caught a huge carp which measured 39 inches in length and weighed 28½ pounds.

Recently Mayor Charles B. Mayne stood on the corner of East Washington and Mill streets for about an hour and a quarter. During this lapse of time, the mayor counted 69 vehicles which were driven through the red light, he told young Pa New this morning.

Several residents downtown today sought Pa New's help in having the corner drinking fountain opened. Seems to us that it isn't too early.

You couldn't help envy them. Those three fellows who walked up East Washington street today with swimming suits in their hands. If the heat continues well—it won't be so long, now, anyway, no sir! The week end may find bathing popular.

City officials should require removal of the tin cans and rubbish on the right side of Cascade boulevard a short distance from the city line. The boulevard is a fine stretch of good road that darts through wooded lands where trees are in bloom, and the dump is an eye sore.

Over 400 In Attendance At Anniversary Event At First U. P. Church

Celebrating the close of the fourth year in its Cienmore boulevard church home, the congregation of the First United Presbyterian church, one of the city's oldest, participated in a gala dinner-program held in the dining hall of the church last night.

Over 400 it was estimated attended the anniversary affair. Older members returned once more to renew friendships with the congregation's younger life, in whose honor the dinner was also held.

The banquet crowd filled over eight long tables set up across the large dining room, with a speaker's table stretch across the stage.

Evening's Program
Presiding as the evening's toastmaster was Attorney Roy M. Jamison, general chairman of the anniversary's arrangements. Mrs. Fred Sontum and an efficient corps of ladies of the church took charge of the speedy dinner serving.

A formal welcome to the new members in behalf of the congregation was first extended after the program opened by J. Clyde Gilfillan, an elder of the church. The response in behalf of the new members was made by Graham Patterson.

Entertaining readings, delivered by Miss Pearl Hutchinson, Miss Edith Moore and Mrs. Alvah Shumaker and vocal quartet numbers, sung by Cliff H. Young, Fred Smith, Fred

The hunt for the six gangsters and their woman accomplice, believed headed by John Dillinger, went on through the night without revealing a trace of the desperadoes who swept into the Glenwood branch of the bank, cowed customers and employees with machine guns and left with the payroll of an auto company.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The first modification of the government's far-flung crop reduction program had been decided upon today by officials of the agriculture adjustment administration as a result of the drought in the west.

Under the program laid before the congressional drought relief committee, farmers would be permitted to plant forage crops on land which was withdrawn from production.

The order will affect a wide area in the west in addition to Minnesota, North and South Dakota. The states hardest hit by the prolonged dry spell.

No Break In Intense Heat

Mid-West Still In Grip Of Pre-Summer Drought
Conditions

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, May 19.—Another wave of intense heat has settled over the sun baked middle west, accentuating the distress of drought-stricken farmers.

Even the possibility of light local showers was held by weather forecasters here to be scant in the central states, and there was no indication at all that heavy rains might be expected.

Temperatures through the central states were holding well above the 90 degree level as a merciless sun beat down while the heat waves pushed through protecting lake breezes.

The long continued drought meanwhile was making the plight of farmers increasingly more acute.

Farmers have resorted to slaughtering their livestock rather than see them perish for lack of feed and water.

To keep their herds from starvation many farmers have resorted to tree leaves and corn fodder left in the fields from last season as emergency feed.

Barn Is Burned Friday Evening

Firemen Called To Wilson Avenue
Extension By Blaze
Early In Evening

Fourth ward and B truck companies were called to Wilson avenue extension at 6:30 last evening, when a barn on the property of A. Maranconi was destroyed by fire with a loss of approximately $500.

Firemen were informed that it was a house which was ablaze, and went to the district in the hope of saving it. The location is just outside the city limits. When they arrived, they found the fire had gained such a headway that it was impossible to save it, and it was allowed to burn itself out.

At 8:25, an alarm from box 66 summoned firemen to the unoccupied residence owned by Pasquale Temesta on Sankey street. Some one had built a fire in the furnace and was burning rubbish. There was no damage.

Pilot Nips Death Pact In Plane

This photo shows Raymond (Pete) Williams, 30-year-old airplane pilot of Muncie, Ind., holding the fire extinguisher with which he struck latter allegedly attempted to leap to his death from Williams' plane while it circled 2,000 feet above the Indiana city. Despondent because he had quarreled with his sweetheart and was receiving poor grades in school, the youth hired Williams for the flight and assertedly sought to climb out of the plane as it flew over his girl friend's home. The blow administered by the extinguisher knocked Schwer unconscious and Williams brought him safely to the ground.

When the fire finally was under control one hundred persons were homeless and more than one thousand jobless.

One man was questioned as a firebug. Two others were under suspicion.

Firemen from thirteen cities and towns within a radius of twenty-five miles were called to aid local firemen as the flames raged for more than eight hours.

The main fire started in the five story Dodge Brothers shoe factory. The factory was of wood, and had not been operated for several years. Back of the main fire, which caused a reign of terror, were three other smaller blazes of suspected incendiary origin.

Scores of firemen were overcome by smoke.

William Canepa, young son of Louis Canepa, sick in bed with pneumonia, was carried out on a stretcher. Meanwhile, his father's store was being looted.

A west wind sent a shower of embers for a time raising the threat of a general destruction of the city. This was when the blaze spread to Odd Fellows hall.

My neighbor gets his weekly sport by swinging at a little ball, a game called golf and I have heard it said it is no game at all. But my neighbor gets his fun out on a greenward with some clubs and little balls and funny pants, and with him are some other dubs. There was a time when I did too, and I was dressed in funny pants, but now I get my pleasure in a garden working over plants. It's fun to see them climbing up and spreading with their leaves and bloom, and crowding out some other plant and taking up a lot of room. Some call it work, care for plants, to me it is a form of play, and when you're done, there's something there, the weather's eighty eight today.

BREAK ON DEMOCRATIC TARIFF PLAN

Proposal Is Battered Hard

Huey Long Charges Democrats Are Repudiating Party Pledges

REPUBLICANS SEE INDUSTRY RUIN

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 19.—A break in the solid Democratic support of the bill, giving President Roosevelt broad tariff-slashing powers to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements, today failed to shake administration plans to enact it by the end of next week.

Senator Huey P. Long (D) of Louisiana, a thorn in the administration's side, led the break. He assailed the Democrats for violating their 1932 party platform by supporting the bill. His attack annoyed administration leaders but failed to win a sufficient support to endanger the bill, despite almost solid Republican opposition.

Reads Democratic Pledge.
Huey got under Democratic skins by reading the Democratic pledge on the tariff. It read: "We advocate a competitive tariff for revenue, with a fact-finding tariff commission free from executive interference." Long charged the bill, giving the president power to raise or lower tariffs, was a plain violation of this pledge. He also quoted speeches by Secretary of State Hull and Senator Pat Harrison (D) of Mississippi, assailing a Republican proposal to give former President Hoover tariff-changing powers.

"This bill," said Huey, "is a brazen effort to perpetuate a fraud on the American people in defiance of the platform pledges of the Democratic party. I personally don't like public office well enough to swallow perjury."

Quotes Hull.
He quoted Hull in 1932, as saying a delegation of taxing powers, such as giving the president power to fix tariff duties, was "clearly unconstitutional" and a "violation of the functions of the American congress." He quoted Harrison as saying such a plan proposed "too much power for any good man to want" and "that applies to a Democratic president too." Huey declared the Republicans were "bad enough" in their treatment of the tariff "but the present administration is worse."

"The Republicans never fixed a tariff that couldn't be repealed by the next congress," he added, "but this administration wants to empower the president to enter irrevocable treaties slashing tariff duties and fixing new tariff rates that can't be changed for three years after the end of this administration. It even proposes to bind future sessions of congress. That's unconstitutional."

The Republican opposition let long exploit the former opposition of Democratic leaders to the pending type of legislation. Their spokesmen assailed the bill as certain to wreck and ruin industries without warning.

The first week of income tax payments in Britain this year brought in $44,410,000.

Old Members Honored
Toastmaster Jamison spoke of the older members of the congregation and then called upon Dr. S. E. Irvine, the pastor of the church, to address them in behalf of the congregation.

The oldest member, Mrs. Hanna, was the mother of the late Rev. Harry D. Hanna, for years a United Presbyterian minister at Vandegrift.

Reception of the members last night was directed by Walter Patterson and his hospitality committee, with others supervising detail arrangements. The church activities committee, which Mr. Jamison heads, sponsored the dinner event.

The congregation entered the new church May 18, 1930.

Three Entries From Here Win Firsts Friday

Senior High Musicians Make Fine Showing At Clarion

New Castle senior high school was represented for the first time, Friday, in the annual musical festival of the State Teachers College at Clarion, Pa., and was rewarded by outstanding success.

Seven entries were made in the festival contests: first places were won by three of these entries, and enough points were made by all seven to give New Castle senior high school second place in the entire festival. DuBois made first place.

In the festival contests were entered the pick of the musical talent from high schools in Northwestern Pennsylvania. There were about 23 schools represented.

Avery Rigby, New Castle entrant, won first place in the vocal solo contest.

A trio of local girls, Cecelia Hasulak, Virginia Roberts and Ruth Wilkinson, took first place in a contest in which ten other local trios were entered.

Cecelia Hasulak placed first in the solo alto contest.

The other local contestants did very well and were able to pile up enough points to bring New Castle next to the top in musical excellence in the opinion of the Clarion judges. Trophies were awarded to the winners of each contest and to DuBois high school, for its excellent general showing.

ADVANTAGES OF NORTH MERCER ST. SITE PRESENTED

ies of travel, subject to congestion and noisy. The Mercer street site, Mr. Patterson contended would be close to both Jefferson and Washington street traffic, yet comparatively quiet. There would also be plenty of parking space on adjoining streets.

Quietness Is Stressed

H. L. Marvin said he had seen the proposed design of the new court house, which would only be adapted to a level site. The Mercer street plot would fill the bill in this respect. He also called attention to the comparatively quietness of that section.

Thomas Boyle, manager of the Castleton Hotel, said that during his two years experience at the hotel, he had found that it is admirably located. Travelers like to get off the noisy streets. Strangers coming to the town have no trouble in finding the location of the hotel. The quiet surroundings, Mr. Boyle contended, would be appreciated by the occupants of the court house, and the courts when in session.

Dr. John A. Meehan believed that the site opposite the Castleton is a logical one for the court house, being a quiet place and near to the business center.

William M. Nunn, said that in looking over and considering the various sites proposed, he could think of nothing that could be said against the North Mercer street site. "In selecting a site," said he, "it is necessary to keep in the mind the farmers. They need a place to park their cars. There is plenty of space on the surrounding streets. I believe that the properties which would be necessary can be acquired at a fair price."

"I have been on the witness stand in the present court house when it was necessary to stop court until a street car would pass. I have also been on juries when it was impossible to hear the witnesses on account of the noise on Washington street. This trouble could be eliminated, if the court house were built on the North Mercer street site."

Think Admirable Site

Adolph Green, of the People's Bank, stated that he is heartily in favor of the North Mercer street site.

Edward J. Davis, of North Mill street, said that he favored the North Mercer street site on account of its quietness and parking facilities. He was of the opinion that if the whole block down to North St. could be secured, it ought to be purchased if the price was right. He was not in favor of spending an exorbitant amount for a site anywhere.

Dr. B. B. Rodgers said that he would be glad to see the court house erected on the North Mercer street site. He believed that it would appeal to the majority of the people.

J. Ed Smith, stated that while he is financially interested in property on North Mercer street, he did not know of any of the proposed sites where he would not be interested, as he owns property near each of those proposed. At the time the government was looking for a postoffice site, he had spent three weeks in Washington trying to get it built on the North Mercer street site. The government had a number in sight but it finally narrowed down to two the North Mercer street and the site on the diamond. The latter was finally selected. He believed that it would be a great convenience to persons who attend court or who do business at the court house to have it located across from the Castleton hotel. "There is parking space on Mercer, Falls, North and Jefferson streets, besides public parking grounds in the immediate vicinity."

Site On Level
"I have noticed that the majority of people who visit the court house are elderly people," he said. "It is hard for them to climb the hill. It would be easy for them to go up North Mercer street on the level. I do not go very much on petitions. I could get out right now and get signers to a petition to hang any person within the court room in three hours. I think the county commissioners are doing the fair thing in hearing advocates for the different sites.

"I do not believe any business man, if he were going to put his money in a court house site, would object to the North Mercer street site. As to the foundation for a building at this location I know it would be solid."

"You can walk to this site from any part of the business district in three minutes. You can't say that of the other sites."

Dr. E. C. Porter said that he had been around all the time the Castleton Hotel was being erected and that he knew that there had been no trouble in getting a solid foundation, no piling being necessary. Attorney Dana has authorized me to say that he will not stand in the way if this site is wanted for a court house. He owns the lot on the corner.

The properties necessary for the erection of the court house on this site would be the Dana, 60 feet by 160 feet; Smith and Abel 58 feet front, and 80 at the back. Newell, 22x100 feet; Barnes, 22x160; Thayer 22x160. This would make a frontage of 180 feet on North Mercer street by 160 feet.

If adjoining properties were taken the frontage would be by 70 feet, the Jay property having 20, the Covert 20 and the Kaplan 30.

The 180-160 is sufficiently large for the court house.

diately into the territory by Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of public safety. Their inability to intercept the fugitives strengthens the belief of police that the gang repaired to a pre-arranged hideout in the city.

Bandits from Toledo?
Police are not inclined to place too much faith in the jumbled descriptions of several witnesses naming Dillinger as the gang leader.

A customer and an aged woman who watched the foray from a window across the street have identified one of the bandits as the notorious killer.

Captain Edward Tewhey, chief of detectives, believes the bandits possibly were Toledo, O., men making a desperate effort to get quick money for an appeal fund for the men convicted in the slaying of Jack Kennedy, night club operator.

His men have been sent to Detroit and Toledo to contact underworld sources and confer with police heads.

A Department of Justice agent arrived in Flint last yesterday. Admitting his interest in the Dillinger angle of the robbery, he declared he "just dropped in for a look around."

POLITICAL LANDSLIDES

OVER in Athens, college professors are digging up the Agora, the ancient business district and market place in which Athenians centered their political activities. Most fourth reader boys and girls remember about Aristides. Well, recently the excavators discovered some of the actual votes which helped to ostracize him.

Good democrats, those early Greeks were. Their system of ostracism was the earliest form of recall, only it had the additional kick in it that the recalled didn't hang around afterwards running for office at each succeeding election. He had to get out of the country and stay out for 10 years.

But keeping upright on the surfboard of popularity was just as hard in the old days as now. This Aristides was a great and good man. He came out of the Marathon battle with a reputation like that of Admiral Dewey or Richmond Pearson Hobson. Everybody in Athens was shouting for him. Right then he began to topple.

There was a young politician pushing into the limelight and he and his followers started a whispering campaign. Pretty soon the Athenians were voting to oust the national hero.

Poor old Aristides, unrecognized, loitered beside the voting place and saw a citizen marking his ballot. "Want to ostracize Aristides, do you?" he remarked, "what has he done?" "Oh, nothing, I guess," was the typical answer, "Only I'm kind of fed up on hearing him called 'the just'."

And in that interesting quality of the electorate lies the explanation for some of the political landslides we have seen in this country.

FAIR PLAY FOR AVERAGE CITIZENS

The much discussed "ordinary man" believes the time has arrived for a modified New Deal. He is sure there should be a brake on regulatory legislation and a return to greater private initiative.

This was the message delivered by various delegates to the annual meeting of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks in New York City. These bankers represent savings institutions having 13,500,000 depositors with $9,500,000,000 in deposits. The men and women who have accumulated this amount of money by thrift and industry have supported many of the recovery plans, but were said to hold the opinion that the "parlor pinks" among the brain trusters, if permitted unchecked sway, might endanger the savings of the provident.

Philip A. Benson, president of the association, attacked "the blatant demagoguery of those who speak of destroying capital and transferring wealth from those who own it to those they vaguely call 'the debtors.'" Henry R. Kinsey, head of the New York state organization, while not agreeing with all of the details of the New Deal, favored its general aims, but insisted that the purpose of the savings banks was also "to give the ordinary man a break."

It remained for C. Willard Young to point out that the great majority in this country are small property owners and small capitalists. Chief among them are those who have savings accounts. And in this class are to be found over 60,000,000 insurance policyholders and from 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 small investors. He quoted a member of the Brain Trust as saying that these figures "leave me cold," and that he cared nothing for anybody's securities.

But the mass of the people who, with thrift and industry, live carefully and lay by modest sums for their declining years, care very much whether their savings are secure. It is little wonder that they object to radical economic theories that appear to question the right of private ownership.

RUSSIA'S WAR MACHINE

In ordering the 5,000,000 members of the young communist league to undergo intensive military training, Russia gives further evidence of becoming the most militarized nation in the world.

The soviet government professes a love for peace, but it at the same time believes in preparedness. It undoubtedly has the greatest military machine of any nation in the world. In addition to its large standing army, it has a military reserve in which more than 13,000,000 men and women are enrolled. The rudiments of military training are taught even to school children through games that have a military character.

Are these military preparations aimed at Japan? This is a natural question. It must be conceded, though, that in its dealings with Japan Russia has shown considerable forbearance and has given no evidence of trying to pick a fight with the former. Tokyo, nevertheless, has reason to watch its step. It seems not unlikely that Japanese militarists, who recently have shown a less irritating attitude in their dealings with Russia, may have come to a realization of the strength of the great military machine centering in Moscow.

In order to build a war machine of equal manpower it would be necessary for Japan to obtain a greater source of supply of raw material than it now has. Was this one of the factors that caused Tokyo to launch its recently announced policy of becoming the overlord of China? Absorption of the latter would give it an almost inexhaustible supply.

JOBS FOR GRADUATES

It will be pleasing news to the army of young college graduates soon to march out into the world that the prospects to their obtaining jobs are better this year than last.

The chances of their finding employment are the best in three years, according to a survey made by Wayne W. Parrish for the Literary Digest. The survey was made through questionnaires sent to nine editors of key college daily newspapers and three university employment bureaus. Seven of the nine editors responded with generally favorable reports. Only two reported the outlook as discouraging.

An increasing number of business firms were reported to be looking for college graduates to fill positions in their organizations. Specialists in various lines were said to be in demand by industry.

With these prospects before them, young men and women will approach graduation exercises in a more hopeful frame of mind than has been the case for the last two or three years.

For simile collectors: As silly-looking as a woman in trousers.

There are 194,630 tax-levying units, outside that of the federal government, in the United States, the census bureau announces. It seems that a little plowing under in this field might be of help to the taxpayer.

JUST QUESTIONS

When you're in an automobile accident, is it the other fellow's fault?

How much money is just about enough?

Who started this tradition that barbers are talkative, and that plumbers leave their tools at the shop, and that dentists ask you questions when your mouth is full of gags?

Are little boys noisier than little girls?

What makes you laugh most heartily?

Is the majority right?

What is a gentleman? Is he one who never intentionally hurts your feelings? Or who never unintentionally does so?

What makes a man a woman-hater? Or a woman a man-hater?

How much do parents owe to children and children to parents?

Is the home going to pieces?

Has the game of bridge any real value, after all?

Do you believe it is possible for a child to be "marked" by something that happens to its mother before it was born?

Do sensitive people suffer more than they enjoy life?

What makes a man great?

And where on earth did I leave my old gray hat?

CHATTERING IS TIRESOME

You talk too much.
You are always injecting yourself into every conversation.

Like all gabby people, you have little to say of value.
Incessant talkers say the least.

It is not possible to jabber at every opportunity and give out something of interest and enlightenment.
Those who talk most usually have a smattering of knowledge and information with an uncontrollable desire to indulge in surface vaporings.

Some of the most pleasing companions are those who seldom talk.

When they do talk there is really something worth listening to.
Men who choose companions for hunting and fishing trips do not select human magpies.

No person becomes so tiresome as the fellow who keeps up a constant chatter while sitting about a campfire.

A deer runway is no place for such a fellow.

Much has been said about chattering women but they are far down the list when compared to men of that kind.

Are you a chatterer?

ANOTHER YEAR

It is said that an investment of more than forty million dollars will be represented in the 1934 World's Fair at Chicago.

More than fifty of last year's structures have been torn down, and approximately five million dollars are being spent building new ones and remodeling old.

Last year's Midway will become an Avenue of Nations, with reproductions of foreign villages on both sides, and the new Midway will be along the boardwalk near the bathing beach. Spectacular water displays and colored light effects are being arranged.

The opening date of the 1934 Fair has been advanced to May 26 for the convenience of visitors planning to spend the Memorial Day week end in Chicago.

AGAINST SNAP JUDGMENT
How sorry would our judgments be
Did we but once another see!

A stranger stopped me yesterday
Upon the street to ask his way.

His face with dirt was thickly lined.
"Ditch digger!" popped into my mind.

"If human beings are classed must be,
Then of the lowest grade is he."

Upon his chin and cheeks appeared
A full week's growth of bristly beard.

Thus leaving him I should have said:
"The spirit of that man is dead."

Within the hour as still I strolled
I saw a shop where shrubs are sold;

Roses, spirea, flowering plums,
For planting when the springtime comes;

And as that lovely place I neared
A second time that man appeared,

And in his arms a bundle great
Of climbing roses for his gate.

With other shrubs for planting round
His cherished little patch of ground.

This time as he went hurrying by
"Lover of plant and bloom!" thought I.

Deflation Of Credit Continues
Stock Bill Not So "Hard" After All
A Company Regulates Freedom Of Speech

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 19.—Deflation in credit continues, in spite of the immense sums of money pumped by the government into banks and public channels.

Loans are contracting, decreasing. Banks, with the highest reserves on record, are investing in bonds, chiefly government bonds.

More than any other one thing, more than all the "radical" propaganda in the world, that is bringing about government control of all business as against private business enterprise.

Wall Street says, "Loosen up restrictions! Credit will flow."

But students of economics shake their heads. They say, "There will be more restriction. The day of intense competition—which is a form of gambling—is ending for private business. No one can change a natural trend."

In the meantime, all money flows to the government—from which, at present, all benefactions come.

SOFT? While Wall Street has become a waiting Wall because of the bill regulating stock exchanges, Washington smiles cynically.

The bill passed lost many of its teeth from the day it first was conceived. Bets are being made that within two years further restrictions "will be found necessary."

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

There already is a press censorship in the United States—a privately imposed censorship.

It all has been disclosed in a protest filed by the American Civil Liberties Union and the Daily Workers against the Western Union Telegraph Co.

It is alleged that the telegraph company refused to transmit two telegrams from the Alabama mine strike area to New York.

The Birmingham manager of the telegraph company alleged that the two dispatches contained "propaganda" matter.

Regardless of the character of the two messages involved, newspaper men received a shock to learn that a local telegraph manager could refuse to carry messages. That is worse than in Europe, where disputed news messages are referred to a central government censorship bureau. And the censorship there is under the government, not a private company.

Charge—adultery. Next day Henry married his third wife, Jane Seymour. But none of Henry's wives gave him such an heir as Anne's daughter Elizabeth—the great Virgin Queen.

Widely accepted in England is the legend that on the night of May 18 each year, a ghost appears in the Tower of London. When the full moon rises high in the sky her dim figure can be seen walking the battlements, wringing her hands and weeping. # Roosevelt Hopes To Aid Jobless Army By Action Of Congress

President Will Propose Remedial Measures For Relieving Unemployed Strain

Members of 73rd Congress Have Done Noble Work, But More Is To Be Done

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The 73rd Congress, first in the Roosevelt administration, has enacted more far-reaching legislation than any Congress in history.

It has revolutionized the monetary system, set up the NRA, the AAA, and a score of other alphabetical components of the new deal.

Will Do More
But if President Roosevelt has his way its successor, the 74th, to be elected in November, and the last congress of the first Roosevelt administration, will do more.

The President has in course of preparation a message to the expiring 73rd Congress which will propose some far-reaching federal legislation. It will be addressed to the 73rd Congress, but it will be really aimed at the 74th, and to the country which is to elect its personnel. What he is to propose can be debated and fought over in the campaign already under way.

Still Many Jobless

In this message, Mr. Roosevelt will call attention to the appalling unemployment situation which still confronts the country, despite the NRA and the various other steps that have been taken to ameliorate it. At the peak of the depression, it is the accepted estimate there were approximately 13,000,000 unemployed workers in the United States. The American Federation of Labor, whose figures are as reliable as any kind better than most, estimates there are still 10,000,000 jobless.

Such being the case, Mr. Roosevelt is going to ask the congress-to-be and the country which is to elect it just what is to be done to meet this situation on a long-range basis. He plans to tell the Congress that this unemployment problem is not something that has suddenly descended upon the country, but something that has been slowly developing through years of increasingly mechanized industry, and only brought to a head by the depression.

Propose Remedies
He will contend there is no sudden cure-all for this unemployment situation, and the social misery and privation that follows in its wake.

Therefore, he is going to meet it on a long-range and semi-permanent basis, and to that end he plans to propose remedies which can be mulled over before the 74th Congress meets next January. Among the remedies he will propose for study are:

1. A mandatory shorter work week throughout industry, along the general lines of the pending 30-hour bill.

2. A permanent system of unemployment relief.
3. Federal unemployment insurance.

4. Federal old age pensions, similar to those now obtaining in some states.
5. A long-range federal housing program, designed to improve living conditions, and end the slums and slumps in the construction industry which have characterized the last quarter century.
6. Some sort of federal health insurance.

Will Invite Action

The President will not request any speed in the enactment of such a program, nor is he expected to commit himself to any particular scheme or measure. He plans simply to state the situation and invite congress and the country to study the remedies proposed, preparatory to action at the next session. Meanwhile, the propositions can be tested by the public opinion, expressed through the campaign.

It is with this in mind, that Mr. Roosevelt has opposed enactment at the present session of such revolutionary legislation as the Connery 30-hour week bill, the old age pension bill, the unemployment insurance bill, and the Wagner bill setting up a supreme court to enforce settlement of labor disputes. He wants them made issues in a campaign and debated and discussed, in order to see whether the public temper is such that it will approve such innovations.

"Don't Get Into Autos With Strangers, Don't Even Talk To Them" Says June Robles

(International News Service)

TUCSON, Ariz., May 19.—"If you don't want to get kidnaped like I was, don't get into automobiles with strangers no matter what they tell you."

That was the warning to the boys and girls of America today by June Robles, 6, kidnap victim. Continuing in her own words little June, who was kidnaped from a street near the school house when she got into an automobile with a stranger, and was missing 19 days before being rescued from a "torture coffin" in the hot sands of the desert, said:

"I wouldn't get into a car again with a stranger now. And from now on I'm going to go straight home from school even if my mama says I can stop and play a little while."

Principal Stocks Are Inclined To Move Lower In Dull Market Today

CHEMICAL SHARES
APPEAR SLUGGISH

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 19.—The stock market was a dull affair today with the principal stocks showing an inclination to work lower.
The moderate reactionary tendencies which became evident at the opening resulted in losses running from fractions to more than a point.
DuPont was again persistently sold losing more than a point apparently on liquidation from traders who were apprehensive over the effects of the president's munitions message on the company's business. Other chemical shares also were inclined to be heavy, but losses were mainly fractional.

Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit was the outstanding feature opening 2 points higher and then extending this by almost another point before meeting with profit taking which cut the gain in half.
The commodity markets also were listless affairs as a result of the closing of the English markets for the Whitsuntide holiday which will extend until next Tuesday. Wheat moved fractionally higher apparently on the continued lack of rain over the spring wheat belt. Rye, though, was heavy. The cotton market played extreme dullness with prices down about 25 cents a bale.

Two Marriages
Cause Trouble

Chas. A. Clark Pleads Guilty To Charge Of Bigamy Before Squire

Before Justice of the Peace C. L. Zedaker of New Bedford, Charles A. Clark pleaded guilty Friday night to a charge of bigamy. Sometime ago he came to New Castle, secured a marriage license and was married, but evidently forgot about a previous marriage.
Complaint was made by the woman he married recently and on Friday afternoon County Detective A. Sharpe Leslie and Constable Robert McClenahan went to Youngstown, O., and brought him back. While both the women in the case reside in Youngstown the bigamy was committed in Pennsylvania and the case had to be brought here.
Clark is in the county jail and will be sentenced later.

Mr. Hampe is president of the class. The nuptials will occur in early June. They received the hearty congratulations of the group.

Lincoln Gym Is Scene Of Semi-Annual Affair; Mothers Of Class Special Guests

ELLWOOD CITY, May 19.—Living up to advance predictions and every expectation the semi-annual Prom of the Senior Class of Lincoln High School, again took its place as one of the outstanding social and colorful events of the season.

It is estimated that nearly 400 people participated in this affair on Friday evening at Lincoln gym. The Senior B Class headed by President, William Dodds was in charge of the decorations. The artful manner in which they took care of this would indeed be a credit to professional decorators. The entire gym was enbedded with crepe paper in the green and orchid colors. Flowers and ferns situated in conspicuous places added much to the beauty of the occasion.

Dancing was enjoyed to the music of a local orchestra. Mothers of the graduating class members, the high school faculty, and the Board of Education with their wives were special guests on the occasion.

Much credit for the success of the affair is due the general Prom committee composed of Harry Hall, chairman, Thomas Douds, Betty Wilson, Dorothy Jones, and Fay Newton.

September 7 Is Final Date For Petition Filing

Several Of Defeated Candidates Will Run On Independent Ticket In November

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, May 19.—Candidates flitting with the idea of running independently for office in the fall elections have until September 7 to make up their minds and file nominating petitions, the state elections bureau announced Friday.
Gov. Gifford Pinchot, beaten by Senator David A. Reed who won the Republican renomination, and Secretary of Agriculture John A. McSparran, who ran unsuccessfully on both party tickets for governor, were considered the most likely independent additions to the fall primary ballot selected at Tuesday's primary.
Petitions for independent candidates must be signed by one-half of one per cent of the number of votes for the biggest winner in a statewide contest at the 1932 fall election, or 7,243 names. Candidates for legislative offices must meet the same requirement on a district basis.

A partial list follows: Mary Tewell, Floy Owens, Margaret Williams, Mildred Weisbaker, Betty Emery, Marie Ketchum, Jane Cochran, Marguerite White, Mrs. Rebecca Fehl, Ruth Jameson, Lillian Eckblom, Erma Eckert, Eva Bricker and Mrs. Eva Gerald.

New Castle Girl Hospital Graduate

Miss Madeline L. D'Elletto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D'Elletto of 1613 Huron avenue, was among the 16 young women who graduated from Chestnut Hill Hospital Training School for Nurses, in Philadelphia, at commencement exercises held on Wednesday evening.
Mr. and Mrs. D'Elletto and family attended the exercises. Miss D'Elletto graduated from the New Castle high school in 1931. Miss D'Elletto will return to their home for a brief vacation early in August. Upon returning to Philadelphia she will prepare to take the state board examination.

Any modern girl can learn to cook and keep house if she has a good foundation in electrical engineering.

To Begin Distributing Garden Plants To Needy

Distribution of over 174,000 vegetable plants—tomato, pepper and early cabbage plants—for use in the "thrift gardens" of Lawrence county's needy families this year will commence on Tuesday, May 22 at a vacant storeroom at 308 East Washington street, near the Washington and Croton corner.
The Lawrence County Emergency Relief board is supplying the plants as a part of its relief program.
Have Families Registered
Early this year a registration was made of families which would want the plants and it will be only to those families that plants will be distributed. Applicants who registered must first receive plant orders at the Carnegie commissary on South Jefferson street.
Others in need of plants but as yet not registered must first register at the office on the board before going to the commissary.
Executive Director E. H. Robinson emphasized the importance of a quick distribution of the stock of the plants, a similar amount of which last year enabled many a near destitute family to produce its own food. The demand this year is almost as heavy as last and expectations are that 2,800 "thrift gardens" will be cultivated.
The county board's quota is 80,000 tomato plants, 24,000 pepper plants and 70,000 early cabbage plants.
Fertilizer Also Offered
Fertilizer, in 50 to 100 pound lots will be distributed free of charge to those who have registered and who will report to the Carnegie commissary for the required order.
The New Castle Feed and Coal company will furnish the fertilizer to those who have order for it.
The relief board will divide the plants into Class A and Class B groups, with the Class A group receiving smaller amounts of plants than those of Class B. The Class A folk would be owners of small garden plots.
To the Class A group will be given 20 tomato plants, six pepper plants and 15 cabbage plants while to the Class B folk, those with larger plots will be given 40 tomato, 12 pepper and 30 cabbage plants.
All of the plants are of the finest variety, it was said.

On Court House Hill

County Treasurer William O. Pitts expects to have the county tax cards ready to mail out about the middle of next week. The cards will show the amount of taxes each property owner has to pay. Mr. Pitts inaugurated this system when he assumed office, and has found that it is giving satisfaction.

Deputy Sheriff Elmer Taylor has mailed out notices to seventy peit jurors to report for the second week of criminal court. Notices to grand jurors and the petit jurors summoned for the first week of court were sent out some time ago. From present indications it is not likely that the petit jurors will be needed all of the second week as there are not many cases on the list.

Papers have been served by Sheriff Pritchard in a mortgage foreclosure proceeding brought by Eliza Round, assigns of Thomas M. Johnston, Eliza Johnston and Flora E. McDill against Charles W. Pinkerton. The land upon which the execution is issued is located in Pulaske township.

Great Britain Awaits Report From Debt Talk

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, Conferred With Roosevelt

MAKES OFFER OF TOKEN PAYMENT

By HARRY K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, May 19.—Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador to the United States, has sounded out President Roosevelt on the question of summoning an international conference to discuss foreign debts owed to America, but the results were not encouraging, it was learned today.

International News Service revealed exclusively last Tuesday that the British government had suggested that President Roosevelt take the initiative in calling such a conference but it was not then known that the British ambassador had presented the proposal.
The British government is disappointed at the preliminary report from Sir Ronald, believing that in no other way can the debt question be settled. At the same time it is recognized that the American congress and public opinion are firmly opposed to treating the foreign debts as an international issue as they are opposed to any proposals for revision or cancellation.

Await Report
The complete report of Sir Ronald's conversation with President Roosevelt is awaited by the cabinet to aid the government in making its decision, after the Whitsun holidays, on what to do about the British debt payment due June 15.

It is hoped, both at the treasury and the foreign office, that the ambassador was able to obtain concrete information from President Roosevelt whether Great Britain would be considered a defaulting nation if she made only a token payment in June, as Washington dispatches assert, or whether such a payment might be made pending negotiations for a final settlement.
In this connection officials denied today an English news agency dispatch from Washington that Sir Ronald had made a definite offer of $25,000,000 as a token payment.

Must Pay Regular On Loans Secured Through The HOLC

McGrew Emphasizes Fact That Principal And Interest Must Be Paid

As a consequence of the amended Home Loan Act all future borrowers from the Home Owner's Loan Corporation will be required to make regular payments of principal as well as interest beginning at once. It was emphasized in a statement issued by Don F. McGrew, sub-district manager for Lawrence county, that extensions of principal or interest will be allowed only if, in the judgement of the Corporation, the circumstances of the home owners and the condition of the security justify such action. Exceptions of this kind are not expected to be frequent.

This is in keeping with sound mortgage lending and is in the real interest of the home-owner borrower as proved by generations of experience among home financing institutions. Required payments are only $7.91 per thousand dollars of debt per month, on the fifteen-year plan, and this amount can be paid by most borrowers. It provides for payment of interest and a part of the principal each month. The total required payment on the $2,900 average loan made by the Corporation to date is less than $23 monthly for interest and principal.

Amortization is required monthly on all loans except that in cases of extreme necessity the loan may be amortized quarterly, semi-annually or annually, but the request for such terms must be forwarded to the Washington office for approval, after investigation and recommendation by the State office.
Advance payments may be made, or the loan may be paid in full at any time. Interest will be charged to date of payment only.

In Heaven's Name, Why?
American Wines, If Any.
She Made Little Dolls.
A Fast One, Says Kirk.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

LOS ANGELES, May 18.
URGENT TALK about forcing the United States into the League of Nations, through the back door, known as the World Court, surprises you.

Not one of the "statesmen, philanthropists, prosperous mollycoddles, internationalists" and others that advocate the World Court for Uncle Sam would accept its decisions for themselves. They would say:

"No thanks for MYSELF. I prefer a plain United States Court."

The Carnegie Foundation, with many millions piled up, said to be working for the World Court, would not trust its own millions or other interests to any World Court decision.

THE UNITED STATES representative on the World Court bench would be overwhelmingly outvoted by other judges, appointed by nations now engaged in swindling this country out of ten thousand million dollars, lent in war. Who is foolish enough to think that World Court judges, in matters affecting the United States, would be any more honest than the nations appointing them? Are not ten billions enough? Or must we lose ten more through World Court decisions?

Any American in favor of the League of Nations and the world court must be doubtful of his country's ability to manage its own affairs, and is not MUCH of an American.

BRILLIANT SUNSHINE flooding this state today, as usual, reminds you that the quality of wines depends on soil and sunshine, SUNSHINE especially. You can prepare and improve the soil, not the sunshine.

Thomas Jefferson advised Americans wisely when he recommended light wines as the best promoters of true temperance.

You should inform yourself concerning the magnificent wines produced in the State of California.

JEFFERSON WAS obliged to import his wines from France, and the Britisher gets his port from Portugal. Americans can and SHOULD get all their wines from American vineyards.

California is the greatest vineyard state. The largest single vineyard in the world is here. Every fine wine is grown from the light red and white wines to the heaviest port and sherry. Generations ago experienced cultivators of the vine came here from Switzerland and France, bringing with them cuttings from the best old world vineyards. Americans should save the heavy duty on foreign wines, and, more important, encourage American winegrowers by using American wines.

Excellent wines are produced in many of our states, New York, Delaware, Ohio, among others, but the great wine state is CALIFORNIA.

IF YOU DRINK anything containing alcohol you can drink nothing better, as Thomas Jefferson told you long ago, and every intelligent Doctor will tell you today, than good light wine, red wine especially, diluted with water, throughout the meal, with perhaps a small wine-glass pure at the end. The French take that, because "it keeps the blood in the stomach, where it is needed for digestion, for at least half an hour after the end of the meal."

CLARENCE LINDNER, of the San Francisco Examiner, who works harder and longer for his paper than the well known Biblical gentleman did for his wife, reminds you that wines have been made in California for more than 150 years. The padres, missionaries from Spain, brought their vines with them and planted them behind the adobe walls of their lonely outpost missions.

Don't buy foreign wines. You can get all that you need of admirable quality grown in America. Keep your money here, where you or your father made it, if you want prosperity.

IN A HOLE in the desert, covered over with cactus, where the little six-year-old kidnaped Robles girl was found, detectives discovered mouldy bread, also some good bread, fortunately withered oranges and a considerable supply of dates.

And most touching and important, there in her prison, her tiny ankles chained, the desert heat above 110 degrees, detectives found that the little girl had busied herself taking seeds of dates that she had eaten and dressing them up with bits of paper to look like doll babies, as she had been taught to do at home.

In all nature, nothing excels in power or in beauty the maternal instinct that shows itself in a little girl's devotion to her dolls.

HERE IN CALIFORNIA, many protest because kidnapers, once caught, are not hanged promptly and always. California's law says the kidnaper shall be hanged, the judge and jury having no option, if, in addition to kidnapping his victim he willfully inflicts physical injury upon him. But if the victim is returned, or escapes unharmed, the penalty is life imprisonment. Under the loose and often badly applied parole laws of this and other states imprisonment means freedom, in from ten to fifteen years.

But the public, demanding a "hanging for every kidnapping," should remember that the most dangerous witness against the kidnapers is their victim, and he is in their power.

IF KIDNAPERS know that the hangman is waiting for them, no matter what happens, they will, as a matter of precaution, murder their victim, to close his mouth forever rather than set him free. But if they know that his safety may mean that they escape hanging, they will protect him. His chance of survival increases many fold.

"A hanging for every kidnapping" MIGHT mean fewer kidnappings, but it would mean more kidnap victims murdered.

IN THE CASE of the three California kidnapers Kirk, Kerrigan and Williams, now in San Quentin prison under one of the life sentences with parole possibilities, the prisoners probably will all actually die in prison because the federal government proposes to add to the local kidnapping sentence another sentence of 42 years without parole, plus $20,000 fine for each, which will have to be worked out in prison.

When Kirk, "the brains" of the plot, heard of that, he remarked: "The government pulled a fast one with that angle."

KIDNAPERS WILL learn of many "fast ones" if their industry persists. The three men as they sat in prison yesterday were told by this writer:

"When you reach San Quentin, advise the men coming out to keep away from kidnapping. It is the most dangerous of crimes, most thoroughly hated, absolutely certain to end in death or prison for the criminal."

"The bank robber, the thief who robs a store, the burglar, are pursued by officers of the law."

"The kidnaper is hated by every one of 120,000,000 Americans and pursued by all of them. They feel that his industry threatens all of them, and what is worse it threatens their children."

REPUBLICAN PAPERS give three and four cheers because Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, has beaten Gov. Pinchot in the senatorial primaries, although Reed is against President Roosevelt and Pinchot supports the New Deal.

Republicans rejoicing over that news represent the "small favors, thankfully received" spirit. Reed and Pinchot both ran as Republicans and naturally in these doubtful days the real Republicans, with no Roosevelt leanings, won. Wait until the Democrats begin running against Republicans, then you will know more.

Pirates Defeat Brooklyn 8 To 3

Club Owners Hear Suggestion To Cut Prices To Get Better Crowds

TIGERS AGAIN THUMP YANKEES

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 19.—When slim attendance greets even a championship team there must be something wrong somewhere. Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants says he found the fans staying away in droves on the late western trip of the Giants.

It can hardly be lack of hitting for already the boys who swing the war clubs are well on their way to smashing all records for homers and Chuck Klein of the Cubs with an even dozen to his credit has a great cinch to beat Babe Ruth's 60, a mark everybody thought would stand for all time.

Prices Too High
The teams are displaying more pepper and dash than they have in years, and as a result more interesting ball games are on tap nearly every day.

Therefore, what's wrong?
The question may be pertinent but I'm afraid the club owners will find the real answer impertinent. They may call it here heresy or high treason, but here it is: The prices are too high.

In a recent game the Giants quickly filled their bleachers which holds less than 5,000 although the capacity of the park is more than 50,000. Two or three thousand poor hoppers with four bits in their jeans were turned away when the bleachers were filled.

Suggestions Offered

Here are two suggestions which some multimillionaire clubowner will frown upon but which they might do well to heed if they don't want to see their clubs playing in secret: (1) make all seats half a dollar for every game except Saturdays, Sunday and holidays, and (2) abolish the reserved sections which are against all baseball precedent.

Oh, well, maybe we'd best forget it and take a look at the dead coming to life, the dead in this case being the Reds who took the Giants over, 2 to 1, yesterday. Ben Froy held the Giants to eight hits and Terry found the answer to his pitching problem in a youngster named Al Smith who held the Reds to five hits.

Klein Hits Homer
The Cubs again picked up the unfortunate Phillips, 9 to 5, in the first. Klein slapped his 12th homer over the garden wall in the third. Hartnett got his eighth and young Stainback his first Major League homer. It was Guy Bush's seventh victory without a defeat.

With Urbanski getting four for four, the Braves turned on the heat against four Cardinal pitchers and won, 6 to 2 and the Pirates upset the Dodgers, 8 to 3, in a woody performance.

Tigers Top Yankees
The gap between first and last places in the American league was again lessened when the White Sox trimmed the A's 5 to 4, despite Jimmy Fox's seventh round trip ticket, and the Yankees again fell before the Tigers 10 to 8.

The Senators hooked up with the Indians again and this time the Solons won, 3 to 1, with Stewart having an edge on Lloyd Brown.

The Browns again took the Red Sox, 11 to 3.

Softball Meeting At St. Andrews

Ernest Riley Resigns As Manager Due To Ill Health, Dave Riley Chosen

Twenty two were present at the St. Andrews Church men's club meeting held at the church last night with President Tommy Evans in charge. The meeting developed into a softball session with the club regretting very much the resignation of Ernest Riley as manager of the St. Andrews team. Mr. Riley was forced by ill health to relinquish the reins.

At a special election held following the acceptance of the resignation of Ernest Riley, the club members chose Dave Riley as the new manager. Dave Riley will have as his assistants Harry Foster and Parker, who will act as coaches of the St. Andrews team.

William Wignall, counselor of the St. Andrews club, gave another of his splendid talks and was well pleased with the spirit shown at the meeting and with the sportsmanship of the St. Andrews team on the field. Mr. Wignall is a big booster for athletics not only at St. Andrews church but the east side. Fred Kosek also made a short talk in which he urged the St. Andrews team to fight hard for the pennant this year.
